The Concept:

The College has developed a well-structured Mentor-Mentee system. The mentor is one resort for a student where one can seek knowledge, guidance and support at all times. The mentor bridges the communication gap between parents and management by regularly updating the parents about the student's progress and updates from the college.

The Process:

1. Regular meetings are held between mentor and mentee.
2. The mentor keeps a record of all the names and contact details of his/her mentee.
3. The mentor gives personal attention to the mentee for their academic or stress related issues.
4. The mentor gives advises, suggests measures, contacts the guardian if necessary.
5. The mentor may also seek the help of professional counsellors if it is necessary.
6. The record is kept for future references, although the data is treated as extremely confidential.
7. Students are allowed to approach the mentor for both academic & personal problems, through telephone, Whatsapp, messaging or by meeting the mentor personally.
8. The system has helped bridging the gap between the teacher and the student.

22nd Sravan Report,2023

On 8th August 2023, the Cultural Committee of Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya, in collaboration with the IQAC of the college, remembered the greatest cultural icon of India, Rabindranath Tagore on his death anniversary through various cultural activities. Dr. Papri Chakrabarti, the IQAC coordinator of the college who was also in-charge of the college for that day in absence of the T.I.C., inaugurated the programme and delivered a short speech. She lighted the lamp and planted a tree. The theme of the programme pertaining to the environment was much relevant for contemporary times. This was an apt way of remembering Tagore as he undertook the activity of “Halakarshana” in 1928 during the month of Sravan at Shantiniketan to underscore the importance of agriculture and in a broader sense, the earth as the source of sustenance of all sorts for humans who tend to forget it. The month of Sravan evoked the emotions of new creation, plenitude as depicted in “Barshamangal” by Tagore. Not only poetic creation but Tagore implemented these thoughts of creativity in reality through planting trees and espousing that nature should be deified. He apotheosized environment to inculcate a deep faith and gratitude in the minds of the people and the “vanmahotsav” was the manifestation of Tagore's such thoughts. Dr. Shree Chatterjee, convenor of the Cultural Committee who moderated the programme harped on these concepts thus enriching the audience present. A few songs from Barshamangal were sung. 22nd Sravan, the death anniversary of Rabindranath Tagore was announced as national afforestation day by the Government of India. In Shantiniketan, a week long programme starting from 7th August and consisting of these activities, is held. This is how Tagore remains relevant today. Dr. Antara Chowdhury, Assistant Professor of the department of Bengali delivered the valedictory speech and a representative from the Student's Council also paid their homage to Tagore.

In the academic session 2023-24, the department of History, Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya organized a workshop on Area studies to sensitize our students about the local history of Ashoknagar. Another aim of the workshop was to create a research-oriented mentality among the General stream students. The Area Studies workshop was an attempt at making the students understand the Importance of knowing local history instead of gaining only bookish Knowledge. The department started preparing for the workshop and it was arranged on 10.10.2023 at the F5 Classroom. Around 62 general students of semester five participated in the workshop. At first they were informed what is area studies, Why they should know about it, how it is linked with the local history studies. Then HoD, History, Sukanya Som discussed with students the different aspects of the history of Ashoknagar with Power point presentation, Swastika Biswas, Assistant professor, department of History analyzed some historically important locations and presented photos of historical importance pertaining to the local history of Ashoknagar. They also inspired the students to start the area studies research by themselves under the guidance of the departmental teachers focusing more on refugee studies, partition studies & diaspora studies. The workshop successfully managed to inspire the students to move beyond the elitist dynastic historiography and delve deeper into such necessary interventions like local history, women history, sub-altern history and so on. The workshop, in perfect semblance with existing and contemporary research methodologies, promoted the need of a decentralized historiography, accommodating multiple perspectives & multi layerdness of historical narrations. The students, as it is hoped by the department would turn out to be not merely inquisitive learners but also active agents in the narration of history in this process.

Rosona Khatun, SACT, Department of Journalism & Mass Communication was the resource person for the seminar. The seminar started at 11am and was inaugurated by Dr. Antara Chowdhury, IQAC Coordinator with a short speech on the importance of the seminar. HoD Sukanya Som welcomed the resource person and discussed the context of the said seminar. After that the speaker discussed briefly on Indian Press laws and restrictions during the British era. Newspapers played a big role in arising nationalism among the countrymen . It not only published the torturous side of the colonial rule but also focused on British exploitation, socio-economic issues, which created mass agitation against the government. As a result The colonial administration imposed a series of restrictions suppressing print media that spoke against the British Govt. Thus press in India faced lots of oppression in colonial era but Indians fought against such restrictions upon freedom of speech. As India became a democratic country after Independence, the media has now become the 4th pillar of it. The seminar continued for two hours and at the end of it there was a very enlightening interactive session with the students. Teachers too participated in this discussion. The seminar was attended by forty two students. The program ended with a vote of thanks by Swastika Biswas, Assistant Professor, History.

Freshwater aquaculture includes breeding of freshwater fish like carp, catla, rohu, freshwater prawn, freshwater pearl farming. Brackish water aquaculture involves fish production that habitat the sea like sea bass, grey mullet, shrimp, mud crabs. Fish farming has a huge market base and practiced widely in West Bengal. He focused on the fastest growing Fishery sector in India which has a huge potential to provide employment opportunities in various fields- culture fishery activities, fish processing, seed production, transportation, freezing, packaging, selling etc. Growing self-initiatives in fisheries is leading India to be one of the world's largest seafood suppliers. So it can be a profitable business venture for youths after completing education. Thus he encouraged our students to think about independent entrepreneurship in the fishery sector instead of focusing only on 10 to 5 office jobs through this workshop. ## Report of Book Fair, 16-17 February 2024

The Library committee of Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya conceived the idea of a Book Fair and put in place a detailed plan of action for the event. It was first of its kind in the history of the college. Finally, under the guidance of Dr. Milinda Majumdar (Hon'ble T.I.C.) and supervision of IQAC, we successfully organized a two-day Book Fair at the college premises on 16th and 17th February, 2024. Hon'ble President, GB Sri Narayan Goswami (M.L.A, Ashoknagar) was the chief patron of the book fair. The book fair was organized keeping in mind the requirements of our students as well the neighbourhood. The fair was inaugurated by the veteran Bengali author Sri Amar Mitra. The librarian of our affiliating university (WBSU) Dr.

Sushanta Banerjee was also present to grace the occasion. An interactive session with the renowned author Sri Amar Mitra was highlight of day one of the book fair. On the second day of the book fair, the cultural committee of the college celebrated 125th birth-anniversary of the poet Jibananda Das which included poetry recitations and an informed lecture by Dr. Pritha Kundu, Assistant Professor in English, Hiralal Mazumdar Memorial College for Women. In her lecture, Dr. Kundu explored the sangeet rasa in the poetry of Jibananda das. During this two-day event, a few of our students also set up handicraft stalls and sold a few items. However, it was not about selling. It was more importantly about connecting with the people who came to attend the book fair.

The book fair featured quite a few publishers and booksellers including Orient Blackswan, D.D Enterprise, Katha o Kahini, Goswami Enterprise, Dey's Publishing, Naya Udyog, Progressive Publishers. The college purchase committee allowed the library committee to purchase books worth two lakhs at the fair while students, teachers, non-teaching staff and local people shelled out Rs. sixty thousands in buying books of their choice. This has greatly encouraged the participating booksellers and publishers. The idea all along has been not only to organize a book fair but also to create a sustainable financial model behind such an event at a semi-urban location.

Ernest Hemingway had rightly said, "There is no friend as loyal as a book." However, with the increasing influence of social media in recent times, many academic experts claim that youngsters have slowly drifted away from the habit of reading. In such a scenario, Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya came up with this innovative idea of a campus book fair to inculcate this habit among the students. This initiative has also served community needs in terms of encouraging book reading and exposing people to new areas of studies. The most important aspect of this event has been the creation of an atmosphere conducive to informed learning among the students and teachers along with the people living in the neighbourhood.

The speaker of the seminar was Dr. Shree Chatterjee, Assistant Professor, Department of Education, Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya. The Indian constitution has prohibited discrimination against women and encourages Indian Government to take measures to safeguard women rights. As a result, they fear to protest or to lodge complains against accusers. So to aware our students about women rights in our country as well as women centric laws, the seminar was arranged. At the beginning of the seminar, HoD Sukanya Som gave a short speech on the importance of knowing about women rights in India and introduced our speaker to the students. Dr. Shree Chatterjee then showed power point presentation and discussed in detail in a chronological way, the evolution of women rights from the nineteenth century to the modern times. The colonial Government in India passed different women centric acts like abolition of 'satidaha pratha', Widow remarriage act, Age of consent act etc. which raised awareness among Indians to think of women progress in India. After 1947, Independent India witnessed a concern for women through the constitution of India which was reflected in number of acts like – All India women equality, the maternity benefit act, prohibition of child marriage act, the dowry prohibition act, The national commission for women act 1990, the protection of women from sexual offences act, equal pay for equal work act etc. She talked elaborately on these acts and regulations, asked students to aware society so that women can raise voice against discrimination, molestation and any kind of violence against them. Students also raised some queries regarding women rights which was nicely answered by the speaker. Thus it became an interesting interaction session among the speaker and the audience. Thirty two students and five teachers participated in the awareness seminar on women rights. The seminar ended with a vote of thanks by Swastika Biswas, Assistant Professor, department of history to the speaker and the students.

Observation of International Women's Day, 2024

By Women's Cell in collaboration with IQAC

Theme: Self defence and women's empowerment

Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya observed International Women's Day on 12.03.24 (as 08.03.24 was a holiday in WB) by organizing a student awareness event. The Women's Cell of the college in this regard arranged a two dimensional program on Self defence and women's empowerment. At the beginning of the program two short movie clips and one Government sponsored documentary film were shown to the students. These movie clips portrayed short stories of three different kinds of crimes that generally happen against women in a patriarchal society; like acid attack, child marriage and domestic violence and also the defensive acts that helped those victim women to protest against such social evils. Students were enlightened by watching the fighting spirit of the women against the injustices. The characters not only empowered themselves by fighting back but also voiced for women rights. After the film projection, our IQAC Coordinator Dr. Antara Chowdhury gave an inspiring speech on women in different professional sectors being successful today. Women's cell convener Sukanya Som asked the students, particularly the girls to learn about the basic self-defence tactics for their own safety in case they face violence or get ill-treated. Thus the awareness program was fruitful as students became Conscious about women safety and the idea of self-defence mechanism. Around forty five students attended the program enthusiastically.

PUBLICATION OF WALL MAGAZINE 'ITIBRITTO',
THEME: ECO-WARRIORS
SESSION: 2023 – 2024

Department of History, Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya published its departmental student magazine 'Itibritto' on 13.3.24. The theme of ITIBRITTO this year was Eco-Warriors. It was an initiative by the students to create awareness about ecological sustainability and the duty of humankind to protect the environment. There are many people who have contributed immensely and are still fighting for the cause to keep our planet green and waste-free. As it's not possible to write about all of them within a limited space, our Students chose some of them and wrote about their contribution. They beautifully ornamented the magazine with colorful paper flowers and butterflies to attract all the students across all semesters towards the wall magazine. In this way They not only salute the Eco-warriors but also pledged to the students of the college to be an Eco- Warrior with their small efforts like tree plantation, elimination of plastic from everyday life, recycling efforts, raising voice against air pollution etc. NAAC Coordinator Smt. Prama Bhattacharjee inaugurated the wall-Magazine. Teachers of the department appreciated the efforts of the students.

Add-on Course in the Department of Geography, Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya: Academic Session 2023-24

The Department of Geography at Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya successfully conducted a specialized add-on course titled "Tools and Techniques in Geomorphic Studies: Practical Applications and Case Studies" from March 15 to April 30, 2024. This comprehensive report outlines the course structure, implementation, and outcomes, demonstrating its effectiveness in enhancing students' practical knowledge and research capabilities in geographical studies.

Course Overview and Implementation

The course was meticulously designed to provide students with both theoretical knowledge and practical field experience in geomorphological studies. The program attracted 23 participants and was structured as a 40-hour blended learning module. The curriculum was thoughtfully divided into three main components: 18 hours of direct classroom teaching, 18 hours of field training, and 4 hours dedicated to course evaluation, ensuring a well-rounded educational experience.

A significant highlight of the program was the incorporation of expert knowledge through special lectures. Two distinguished external experts, Dr. Swagata Bera from Dum Dum Motijheel College and Mr. Sayan Mandal from Sarojini Naidu College for Women, each conducted two-hour sessions. These collaborations were facilitated through existing Memorandums of Understanding (MOUs) from previous academic sessions, demonstrating the institution's commitment to maintaining strong academic networks.

Field Training Component

The field training component, conducted from March 19 to 21, 2024, took place at Sagar Island and Ghoramara Island in West Bengal. This practical exposure provided students with invaluable hands-on experience in monitoring and identifying coastal landform dynamics, studying coastal erosion patterns, and understanding coastal management strategies. Additionally, students gained insights into local livelihood patterns, integrating human geography aspects with physical geography studies.

Evaluation Methodology and Student Performance

The course employed a comprehensive evaluation system consisting of two components: a 50- mark multiple-choice examination testing theoretical knowledge, and a 50-mark assessment of field performance and participation in group discussions.

This balanced approach ensured that both theoretical understanding and practical application skills were adequately assessed.

The student performance analysis reveals impressive results. Out of 23 participants, 19 students achieved an 'A' grade or higher, with two students securing an A+ grade. The remaining four students received B grades, maintaining a satisfactory standard of performance. The highest combined score was 89 marks, achieved through exceptional performance in both theoretical and practical components.

Notable performance indicators include:

- Average examination score: 41.6 out of 50
- Average field performance score: 38.0 out of 50
- Overall pass rate: 100%
- A/A+ grade achievement rate: 82.6%

Student Achievement Analysis

The results demonstrate remarkable consistency in student performance across both theoretical and practical components. The field performance scores were particularly strong, with many students scoring above 35 out of 50, indicating successful achievement of the course's practical training objectives. The theoretical component scores also showed strong results, with several students scoring above 45 out of 50 in the multiple-choice examination.

Course Outcome

The successful completion of this add-on course represents a significant achievement in specialized geographical education. The high-performance metrics and positive outcomes validate the effectiveness of the blended learning approach and the integration of field studies with theoretical knowledge. The course has successfully fulfilled its objectives of enhancing students' specialized learning levels and providing them with practical exposure to geomorphological studies.

The strong academic performance across both theoretical and practical components suggests that the course structure and delivery methods were well-designed and effectively implemented. The inclusion of external expertise through special lectures added valuable perspectives and enhanced the learning experience. The field training component particularly stood out as a crucial element in developing students' practical skills and understanding of real-world geographical phenomena.

This course serves as a model for future specialized geographical education programs, demonstrating the value of combining classroom learning with practical field experience and expert guidance. The high success rate and quality of student performance indicate that similar programs should be continued and potentially expanded in future academic sessions.

Interdisciplinary Student Seminar

on

Contribution of some Bengali Musicians in rise of Indian Nationalism

Organized by Department of History in collaboration with IQAC Session

2023-24

Department of History in collaboration with IQAC, Netaji Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya organized an interdisciplinary student seminar on Contribution of some Bengali Musicians in rise of Indian Nationalism On 19.03.24. Dr. Papri Chakraborti, Associate Professor, Department of Music was the main speaker of the seminar. Smt. Sukanya Som, HoD, History introduced the speaker with the audience. Dr. Chakrabarti gave a delightful lecture on three important Bengali Musicians of the nineteenth century – Atulprasad Sen, Rajnikanta Sen & Dwijendralal Roy, who played a great role in the rise of Indian Nationalism. Through their songs they sparked the idea in 19th century Bengal that music can raise nationalistic feelings among people. These songs were recognized as patriotic songs during the 'Swadeshi Movement' in Bengal. Some of the most popular 'Atulprasadi' songs of these period were "Utho go Bharat Laxmi", "Bolo bolo bolo sobe", "Hao dhoromete dhir" etc. Dwigendrageeti that became "gana Sangeet" (mass songs) were "Bango amar janani amar", "Dhano dhanya pushpobhora amader ei boshundhora" etc. Rajnikanta Sen created magic in arising patriotic sentiments among the youth through his songs like "Mayer deya mota kapor mathaye tuley nerey bhai". These songs were hummed by the mass in the fight against the oppressive British Government. These songs ignited the spirit of nationalism among the mass. Dr. Chakrabarti not only gave speech on the topic, the students of department of Music played a graceful musical performance on these songs which mesmerized the students and the teachers. Such seminar really boosted up the human values of the students and their knowledge about growth of Indian nationalism was increased. Around forty five students attended the seminar. The student seminar ended with vote of thanks by Smt. Swastika Biswas, Assistant Professor, Department of history.
